President Significan then read his annual address, which stated that no startling discovery and been made during the past year. He stated that no electric light had passed the speculative stage and had now settled down to the prosale duty of making dividends. There was no longer any fear that gas would be relecated to the sole work of heating and rooking. The address then touched upon several points of interest in the business. The remainder of the morning session was devoted to reports of committees, as A paper was read by S. O. Silners, of Pawticket, R. L., on "Valves vs. center seats for working particlers," which was very generally discussed, after which the association took a recess until alternoon.

which was very generally discussed, after which the association took a recess mutil afternoon.

A number of interesting papers were read at the afternoon session, including one by Mr. C. E. Heouenbourg of Bradford, Pa., upon "Natural Gas." He gave a detailed account of the gas wells at that city and Pittsburg, together with the methods being taken to still further develop the supply from the subternamean reservoirs. Discussion on this paper was cut short by a sungestion that the subject was not one that affected the price of the manufactured product elsewhere, and was not therefore of moving interest to the members whose business is strictly for revenue only. The chemistry of gasmaking was learnedly discussed by Emerson McMillin, of Columbus, while John Cabot, of Lawrence, Mass, descanted on the coating of cas mains with coal tar. H. F. Coegyshal, or Fitchburg, Mass, discussed the use of iron sponge as a purifier. The following gentlemen were elected officers of the association for the ensuing year: President, Eugene Vandersool, of Newark, N. J. Vice presidents, A. C. Wood, of Syracuse, N. Y. Thomas Butterworth, of Rockville, Ill., and M. R. Greenough, of Boston, Secretary and treasurer, C. J. R. Humphreys, of Bergen Point, N. Y. Finance committee, John Andrews, of Chelsea, Mass, W. MARTYRS TO DISCIPLINE.

Policemen Shivering in Summer Coats on

Frosty Street Corners, A number of men might have been seen last night in different parts of the city in short night in different parts of the city in short sack coats of light flannel material and withnot tilning. They all owned overcoats, and the garments were not deposited as collateral for loans with brothers of either parent. Yet they shivered and sought sheltered corners, holding their hands in their pockets to keep their imgers from becoming too much benumbed to use the clubs which they carried under their arms.

These poor men were policemen. They had not yet received permission from headquarters to don their winter coats, much less the warm overcoats which most of them have paid for, all except new appointees, in fact. A few did indeed brave the dangers of the trial board by taking out their long-tailed coats, and thus saved the nether portion of their anatomy of the possible expense of decapitation for violalation of discipline; but the majority suffered and shivered.

In the police court yesterday Frank Gry was charged with stealing a parrot from Miss Jessie Horton, of 710 L atreet southeast, as stated in yesterday Regrematoax. The parrot was used as a witness, steaking English and Spanish and calling family names. The court decided that there was no ground for a criminal proceeding in the case, as Guy cialined to have bought the bird in Richmond, and the case was continued for a week to allow the lady time to enter a suit in replayin. The bird is held by the police.
